The Peer Review Process

The National Agricultural Education Research Conference (NAERC) is the premier professional event in which research in Agricultural Education is communicated orally and in written form to the profession. Agricultural Education professionals from throughout the United States and around the world submit their most recent research for presentation at the annual research conference.

Each paper proposal was sent to three Agricultural Educators as part of the blind review process. Only papers receiving the most favorable reviews were accepted for presentation at NAERC and for publication in the proceedings. One hundred and eight paper proposals were submitted for review by the postmark date of June 1, 2000. A distinguished group of 56 Agricultural Educators served as paper reviewers.

Based on the reviewers' recommendations, the top 48 papers were accepted for presentation at the 2000 NAERC. The review process resulted in the acceptance rate of 44%.

Acknowledgments

The National Agricultural Education Research Conference is possible because of the dedicated service of many individuals. Paper reviewers, paper discussants, session chairs, session facilitators, and authors who submitted their work for consideration are all especially important contributors to the National Agricultural Education Research Conference.

Appreciation is extended to the faculty and staff in the Department of Agricultural Education and Studies at Iowa State University for their support of NAERC 2000. The work of Cheryl Abrams, Carrie Fritz, and Kara Ladlie in developing, editing, and producing materials for the conference was greatly appreciated. Special thanks is extended to Dr. Robert Martin who made sure that sufficient resources were devoted to this important activity. He also provided leadership for facilitating the closing general session. Special thanks are also extended to Dr. Henry Bahn and USDA-Higher Education Programs for supporting a special USDA project that provided financial support for the closing general session.
